

Aristide Briand

Aristide is standing in the kitchen talking to John about the big thunder storm that happened last night. " Hey john what do you want for dinner tonight, " said Aristide "not sure" said john hmm Aristide thought to himself, he also thought why did my mum (Lisa) and dad (Leo) move from France to England. I really like France said Aristide. Aristide I really miss Mark (step brother) "yeah".

Aristide was a politician in his late 20's to 60's. He stopped because he was retired. He really enjoyed being a politician. Because it made him feel great.

He is average, one metre 76. He has no muscles and his face feels like a cat scratch post. He has eyes as brown as bark and as wide as the ocean. His voice sounds like a rough proud voice. He likes to take control of everything and everyone because it makes him feel happy. He doesn't like people beating him because it makes him feel very unfit.

What makes him laugh is people being funny. Aristide cries when a person is being mean to him. He is afraid of dying of old age because he wants to stay being a Prime Minister forever.

Right now Aristide is standing in the garden watering the plants so they can grow big. he is thinking what they can have for dinner. Aristide is just about to go and pick some flowers for the kitchen.
