More writing from last week's Blake Virtual Reality visit.

Blake virtual reality headsets

Wow! There were fish swimming all around me as I pulled on the VR headset. We had been plunged into a magical underwater paradise!

On Tuesday the 19th of March 2024 Takapō (Takahē-Kākāpō) was lucky enough to have a Virtual Reality headset experience. As soon as we pulled on the headset there were dolphins, fish, whales and much more.

Alice and Rewa from the Blake NZ VR organization, talked us through what would happen as soon as we pulled on our headset. They also told why they were called what they were. They were named after Sir Peter Blake, a very famous NZ sailor. He sailed around the world, recording pollution and global-warming and other things. He was shot and killed by pirates while monitoring environment change on the Amazon River on 5 December 2001.

First, we looked at all the fish in a healthy marine reserve and then in unprotected water. The result was extraordinary. There were huge kina barrens & absolutely no snapper or seaweed in the unprotected areas, While a plentiful supply of both in the marine reserve, under one wharf there were tyres, metal posts, plastic & barely any fish.

At the end when we took off our headsets, they told us all about what we'd just seen and all the pollution and lack of seaweed and what we could do to help. Here are some of the things they listed.

Beach cleanup, Tree planting and spreading the word. It only takes one person to organize a beach cleanup. It only takes one person to motivate others. By Ziara

Blake VR

I pulled the heavy head set over my head. It was like a magical exciting sea adventure. I heard all the kids squealing with delight. Even some kids yelling stuff like "OMG look at the stingray!" I felt like a fish just swimming around in the water.

On Tuesday the Kauri Team was so lucky to get to experience VR all about threats to the ocean or our moana. Alice and Rewa taught us about the sea, they played videos on the VR headsets. Some videos were filmed on a drone and went over White Island, Poor Knights and Goat Island then we snuck down into the deep dark ocean (or so it looked like). We learnt about unhealthy waters and healthy waters. Videos would play then we would take the headset off and reflect on whether the water was healthy or not.

I had an amazing time at this VR experience. It helped our class think of ideas to help save the ocean. Some of the things we all can do is to make sure your rubbish goes in the bin not in the drain or anywhere else, planting trees and plants, pick up rubbish and do three for the sea. I'm so grateful for the experience! It was amazing. I'm going to try to do three for the sea every time I go to the beach. By Lou

ROOM 15 AND 16 – KAURI TEAM – SNORKEL TRIP

Our snorkel trip!!

*Last Friday room 15 and 16 went to Island Bay to snorkel. When we got there Group A got in the water first and then Group B and C went to explore the rocky shores. We even saw a shark on the surface! We saw a lot of things on the rocky shore. Once we were done, we had some food to fill us up. We then moved onto another activity and then that went on one more time. When everybody was done, we said thank you to the people that work at the marine reserve and all the parents. Thank you so much for coming and making our trip unforgettable. Grayson and Jahzyrus
